

Can you add in the capital letters and full stops?

mount etna has erupted for the fifth time in a matter of days with dramatic pictures of the erupting volcano showing jets of molten rock spewing up to 1km into the sky mount etna erupted late on monday night, sending smoke and ash over sicily just 48 hours after erupting on the weekend the volcano's weekend eruption was even seen from space and the latest blast is believed to have been even stronger mount etna is the biggest volcano in europe and is one of the world's most active as of wednesday morning, the 3,350m-tall volcano is still showing signs of activity and the eruption is ongoing